LAMAR ODOM is demanding $10 million to end his four-year marriage to Khloe Kardashian!

Sources say the troubled NBA star has also taken a page out of his fellow hoopster Kris Humphries' playbook by demanding Khloe's $875,000 engagement ring back before he'll agree to zip his lips about the K-clan's secrets. Humphries got Kim Kardashian to return her $2 million engagement ring as part of their divorce agreement following their 72-day marriage in 2011.

Odom, 34, laid out his conditions after "momager" Kris Jenner ordered Khloe, 29, to sit down with their attorneys and hammer out a divorce deal, an insider says.

"KRIS AND KHLOE ARE VERY worried about Lamar. He's a loose cannon, and he has a lot of dirt on the family and nothing to lose," a source told The ENQUIRER.

"He knows all about their extreme surgery procedures – when, how often and how much – and the pressure put on the younger girls to follow suit."

Odom could also make waves by ripping the cover off the clan's reality TV show "Keeping Up with the Kardashians," causing them even more headaches, said the source.

"If Lamar reveals just how fake the show is, it could create all kinds of problems that the family doesn't need," said the source.

"Lamar is also prepared to destroy Khloe's reputation by discussing their sex tape, and how she targeted him and tore his family apart."

Odom has been sidelined from the current NBA season and he was recently spotted at LAX toting a self-help book. He was reportedly headed to work out in Rhode Island, where he played ball in college, preparing for his hopeful return to the Los Angeles Clippers.

Meanwhile, with statistics showing the Kardashian family's popularity is plummeting, matriarch Kris apparently wants the divorce deal done ASAP.

"Kris is insisting on a confidentiality agreement to ensure Lamar can never discuss his life with the Kardashians either in print or verbally," noted the source.

"He's not signing anything until they cough up the dough."

JENNIE GARTH's second post-divorce romance has gone up in flames because the former "Beverly Hills 90210" actress can't get over her messy split from actor Peter Facinelli, say sources.

The 41-year-old blonde's romance with big-bucks media exec Michael Shimbo collapsed after a heated argument while the pair were at a Grand Prix race in Austin, Texas, on Nov. 17.

A friend said it was Shimbo who decided to end things, believing Garth hasn't gotten past her divorce, which ended amid rumors of Facinelli's infidelity. The pair – who have three daughters, Luca, 16, Lola, 10, and Fiona, 7 – had separated in 2012 and their divorce was finalized in June.

"MICHAEL LIVES IN San Francisco while Jennie lives in L.A., so the time they spent together was very precious to him," said the friend. "But when they were together, he had to listen to Jennie harp about what a jerk she thought Peter was being, how things are tough for their girls and how her life was just turned upside down by her divorce."

"In Texas, Michael finally asked her, 'Why can't you get past this?' and suggested she put some distance between her and Peter. Jennie got red-faced and said, 'He's the father of my children, and I can't just shut off being a mom!'"

NEWLY single Jennie Garth is wasting no time getting out and about after her split from her latest beau Michael Shimbo – but only her close pals would know it!

That's because she's hitting the town in disguise, say sources.

"IT'S COMPLETELY HILARIOUS," a close pal told The ENQUIRER. "She'll arrive completely unrecognizable in a brunette wig and glasses, looking like a super-sexy

Media exec Michael Shimbo thought it best to part ways with the actress, say sources. Above right, Peter Facinelli

“At that point, Michael told her it’s for the best if they just parted ways because she obviously still has issues she needs to work out.”

Another friend adds Garth’s continual bumping-of-heads with “Twilight Saga” star Facinelli, 40, also doomed her romance with her former boyfriend, rock musician Jeremy Salken, who told a friend that Garth “only seemed half into the relationship.”

AS THE ENQUIRER REPORTED last month, Garth lashed out at Facinelli over his public displays of affection with his gorgeous actress girlfriend Jaimie Alexander, 29, and was incensed when they moved into a new home in Toluca Lake, Calif., on the same street where he and Garth raised their daughters during their 11-year

Still, it’s not always a “War of the Roses” with those two. Garth was seen on Nov. 3 playing happy family while dropping off Facinelli at LAX with their daughters in tow.

“That’s what stuck in Michael’s craw,” said the friend. “Jennie would gripe about Peter one day and then spend time with him the next. There is clearly something more going on, something that Michael didn’t want to be caught up in.”

secretary. She always turns heads too and loves flirting with guys who have no idea who she is.

“She’s been meeting up with her girlfriends in West Hollywood cocktail bars, but doesn’t want to draw attention to herself.”

As an actress, she seems to have no trouble pulling off the ruse.

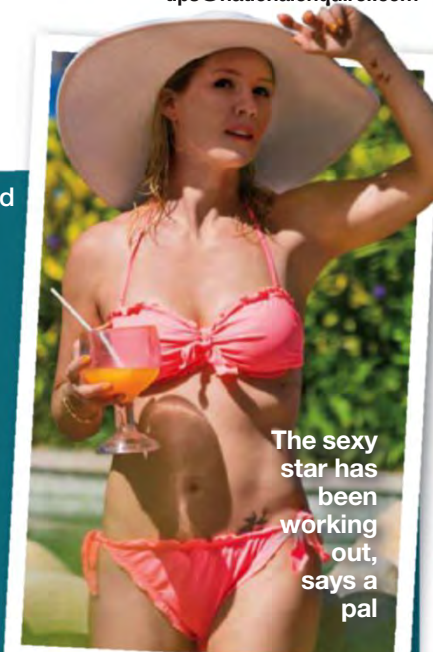

“She loves that she looks like a completely different person and really gets a thrill talking to everyday people on a normal level,” noted the pal.

And although she’s now said to be on the hunt for another man, she’s also focusing on getting her career back on track.

“Jennie has been working out after putting on a few pounds and just signed to do another TV series with (her ‘90210’ co-star) Tori Spelling,” confided the pal. “She’s really enjoying herself, especially when she shocks her girlfriends by showing up in disguise.”

JEN MOVES DAD INTO MANSION — and fiancé Justin is furious

Justin thinks having John Aniston around the house will be a “buzz-kill,” says a source

FOUR’s a crowd for Jennifer Aniston’s beau Justin Theroux — insiders say he’s furious that Jen moved her dad and his wife into their Bel-Air home... without even asking him!

In early November, the “Friends” beauty offered to let her father, 80-year-old soap veteran John Aniston, and his second wife, Sherry, 67, take up residence in the recently renovated $21 million mansion she shares with Justin until they can find a new place. “Justin is steaming mad over Jen’s offer,” disclosed an insider. “He told her that having her dad ambling around the house is a huge ‘buzz-kill.’ He worries it’s going to destroy their love life before they even tie the knot. Justin tried to plead his case, but Jen told him she’s made up her mind. She said he has no right to even question her because of how much time he’s been away.”

While Justin has promised Jen that they’ll spend the holidays together, in recent months he’s been living primarily in New York City for work. He insists it’s because his career is booming, but insiders say it may be a stall tactic.

THE TWO GOT ENGAGED OVER A YEAR AGO, BUT THERE are still no definite wedding plans in the works. Friends are concerned that the couple may not be ready to commit — and that the 44-year-old actress is turning to her dad for support.

But Jen’s decision to open their door to her father and his wife has strained her already troubled relationship with Justin, according to the source.

“Justin worries that John will meddle in his and Jen’s personal affairs,” the insider explained. “John is already pestering him about when he’s going to marry Jen and give him a grandchild.”

Although Jen’s representative denies that Jen’s father and stepmom are moving and that it’s causing friction in Jen’s already tense relationship with Justin, our sources say that John and Sherry recently put their five-bedroom Bell Canyon, Calif., home up for sale for nearly $1.7 million. The upkeep on the property proved to be too much for the aging couple, and they were looking at buying a condo in the Westwood section of Los Angeles but were having trouble finding something suitable when Jen intervened, a source says.

While the actress has had a stormy relationship with her 77-year-old mother, Nancy Dow, she’s close to her father and didn’t want him to have to rush to find a place to live.

“Jen cherishes her relationship with John,” added the insider. “She told him that he and Sherry can stay with her for as long as they like.”

Putnam County,
N.Y., District
Attorney Adam Levy

JUDGE JUDY is stunned over shocking demands for a criminal investigation of her son that, if charges are brought and proven, could land him in prison for four years, insiders told The ENQUIRER in a bomb-shell exclusive.

The outspoken jurist's son, Putnam County, N.Y., District Attorney Adam Levy, 45, could be in legal hot water over a state senator's charges that he leaked top secret grand jury information in a horrifying child rape case involving an illegal Romanian immigrant who was allegedly his live-in personal trainer. Levy characterizes the trainer as merely a close friend and frequent house guest.

"Judge Judy (Sheindlin) has blown a gasket that her son has been caught up in this sordid mess," a close source told The ENQUIRER.

Although Judy insists her son is the target of a smear campaign by political enemies, a state senator is calling on the governor to open an independent investigation into Levy's activities.

In March, Levy removed himself from the case because of his friendship with the accused rapist, but he continued to stay deeply involved in an apparent conflict of interest, say sources.

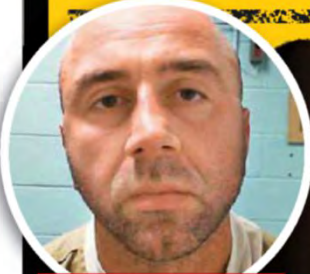

Incredibly, he did not object when his brother-in-law, attorney

Daniel Mentzer, was named to represent defendant Alexandru Hossu, 35, who stands accused of raping his girlfriend's then-13-year-old daughter and faces more than 25 years in prison if convicted.

WHAT'S MORE, LEVY HAS ADMITTED that he even helped fund Hossu's defense! Meanwhile, Levy's handling of the case has infuriated N.Y. State Sen. Greg Ball, who told The ENQUIRER: "Enough is enough!"

He disclosed: "I am asking Adam Levy to either step down or join me in my request that Gov. Cuomo appoint an independent special prosecutor to fully investigate the current fiasco in Putnam County.

"We have an elected district attorney who admits to having an illegal alien living in his house, who is also an alleged rapist, and is now funding the defense after telling the public he wasn't involved."

Ball added: "I don't care who his mother is or where he comes from – this is about Putnam County."

In an apparent attempt to help his personal trainer, Levy – whose father is Judge Judy's first husband Ronald Levy – allegedly advised Hossu's former attorney Robert Altchiler on defense strategy.

What's more, Sen. Ball stated in a press release that reporting shows "questions have arisen as to whether Levy specifically communicated to (Hossu) how the grand jury actually voted." Levy also reportedly told Hossu's first attorney that Hossu's teenage accuser had spent time in a psychiatric ward.

Bennett Gershman, judicial ethics expert at Pace University School of Law, said: "The punishment for unlawful grand jury disclosure is up to four years in state prison.

Judge Judy has blown a gasket"

"This is a serious and dangerous conflict of interest...On one hand, he's the district attorney. He's removed from the case. And yet, he's aggressively involved. He misled everybody.

"IN EFFECT, HE'S BEEN ENGAGING in fraudulent conduct."

Fighting back, Levy has hired publicist Hank Sheinkopf, who insisted: "Mr. Levy's conduct has been entirely ethical and he welcomes any inquiry."

But Judge Judy is worried over her son's "dire predicament," confided the close source, adding: "Family and friends don't know why he is so adamant in finding ways to help Hossu. It makes one wonder, what could Adam Levy be trying to hide?"

PARALYZED SURGEON BEATS THE ODDS

DR. Ted Rummel is back on his feet after a tragic turn of events nearly ruined his booming career as an orthopedic surgeon.

In September 2010, the talented physician was suddenly paralyzed from the waist down after a blood-filled cyst in the middle of his spinal cord burst.

The injury could have sidelined the talented physician for good, but Rummel wasn't ready to trade in his scrubs. And incredibly, just a little more than two years after losing the use of his lower body, the courageous doctor performed surgery again – in a standing wheelchair!

THE ORDEAL BEGAN IN THE FALL OF 2009 when Rummel, who lives and practices medicine in O'Fallon, Mo., started experiencing back pain. Docs discovered the cyst in his spine but ruled out surgery because they feared it would paralyze him immediately.

Rummel tried to live with the problem by scaling back his activity level. But he continued to fix patients' aching wrists, ankles and shoulders. Then, a week after operating on his own wife Kathy's torn rotator cuff, he began to feel numbness and weakness in his legs. Within days, he was completely paralyzed from the waist down.

Despite the catastrophic turn of events and facing overwhelming odds, Rummel decided to get back to work. He was so determined that he refused to be around anyone who was negative or felt sorry for him during his rehabilitation.

"He told me, 'If you're going to be down, you're out of here,'" recalled nurse Diana Eisenbath, who had assisted Rummel in surgeries for 17 years.

Rummel got back into the business of operating on patients' hands, elbows, feet, ankles and knees from a traditional wheelchair. For his first one after his injury, another surgeon stood watch in case Rummel needed help.

He didn't.

"VERY QUICKLY IT WAS APPARENT that his skills were still there," said Ann Abad, a vice president at the Progress West Healthcare Center, where Rummel works. But Rummel wasn't completely happy. He still couldn't operate on shoulder joints – his favorite type of surgery – because it has to be done with the patient in a seated position. To beat that problem, the plucky doctor started using a stand-up wheelchair, outfitted with special padding and a seat belt.

His first shoulder patient was Dave Shelton, whose wife had been operated on by Rummel before the paralysis struck. "It doesn't concern me a bit," Shelton said prior to his procedure, adding: "I'm anxious to see his stand-up routine."

All kidding aside, getting back to work has been a lifesaver for Rummel.

"When you're disabled, so much of who you were is taken away from you," he explained. "When I'm able to do this, and I can get that piece of my life back, it's huge. It's huge. It's so special."

SUDDENLY svelte Miranda Lambert is caught up in a shocking “stomach stapling” scandal!

The 5-foot-4 country spitfire has long battled the bulge – ballooning up to 135 pounds earlier this year – and now sources say friends are wondering whether she owes her recent dramatic weight loss to secret gastric bypass surgery.

The singer unveiled her sex-sational new 105-pound figure at the Country Music Association Awards on Nov. 6. She wore a figure-flattering blue gown that helped to make her look slimmer than she really is, claimed sources who added that along with possible surgery, the gown alone made her seem to be cheating about her weight loss. However, she insists she achieved the amazing transformation thanks to good old-fashioned exercise and portion control.

“MIRANDA IS BRAGGING THAT SHE dropped 30 pounds in just three months,” divulged a close source.

“But up until mid-October, she still looked chubby and out of shape. Now there’s buzz swirling, even in Miranda’s camp, that she secretly had a stomach stapling operation. People are saying that’s the real reason for her sudden slim-down. Otherwise, the timeline of her weight loss claims just doesn’t add up.”

The “Mama’s Broken Heart” songbird claims that she dropped pounds by giving up her beloved Cheetos and eating vegetables, juicing and grazing on smaller portions of low-fat meat and fish.

“That sounds improbable,” scoffed the source. “All signs point to Miranda having secretly gone under the knife.”

Raising further flags about her weight loss, Miranda told a reporter: “I refuse to give up drinking,” claiming that she’s switched to low-calorie cocktails such as her “Mirandarita,” a custom blend of rum with raspberry lemonade-flavored

Crystal Light and a splash of Sprite Zero.

The 30-year-old blonde also claims she’s devoting 70 minutes a day to exercise, including jogging in place and shadow-boxing. But just last year, she insisted: “I absolutely hate exercise.”

While Miranda has dieted in the past, trying Atkins and doing Nutri-System a few times, “she’s a classic yo-yo dieter,” revealed the source.

“She’s never been able to maintain her weight losses. Besides that, Miranda has made jokes about getting her stomach stapled, undergoing Lap-Band surgery and even having liposuction to get the fat sucked out of her.

“She’s the first to tell you that she’s never been able to win the battle of the bulge because she’s impatient and impulsive. That’s why lots of people think she turned to surgery for a quick fix.”

Miranda Lambert STOMACH STAPLING SCANDAL!

Is country queen a weight-loss cheater?

As The ENQUIRER has reported, Miranda went on a “revenge diet” as payback against her skirt-chasing husband Blake Shelton and to attract young hunks.

She’s been fuming for months over the 37-year-old “Honey Bee” singer’s infatuation with slim, shapely women like pop star Christina Aguilera, his fellow mentor on “The Voice” who also dropped 30 pounds recently.

Miranda and Blake’s three-year marriage has been strained since early last year when Miranda confronted singer Cady Groves, 24, whom she suspected of cheating with her hubby.

She’s also warned Blake to stay away from Season 3 “Voice” winner Cassadee Pope, 24. And she was said to have hit the roof when Blake was recently photographed getting cozy in an L.A. nightclub with 25-year-old aspiring actress Lindsey Sporrer.

Miranda’s ongoing jealousy has sparked fears that the couple could be headed toward a bitter $40 million divorce battle.

“RIGHT NOW MIRANDA IS UNDER A TON of pressure, not only on a personal level to hold her marriage together, but also professionally,” said the source.

“She has a record coming out in the spring, and there’s talk that she’ll hit the road for a huge concert tour.

“Of course Miranda wants to look her best when she’s on the road and promoting her new music. But most of all, she’s been pulling out the stops to rescue her marriage.

“No one would be shocked to learn that she turned to surgery as a quick fix for her issues.”

Ashton Kutcher rocked by

SECOND MURDER PROBE

ASHTON KUTCHER is struggling to cope with a double murder shocker!

Sources say the “Two and a Half Men” star has been rocked by recent charges that rat poison may have killed his ex-flame Brittany Murphy.

But the stunning allegation has also triggered painful memories of another former girlfriend, Ashley Ellerin, who police suspect was slaughtered by a serial killer called the “Hollywood Ripper.”

“Ashton is devastated by the idea that Brittany may have been murdered,” said a colleague of the 35-year-old actor. “And with that news all over the media, he’s been flooded with horrible memories of Ashley’s death.”

ASPIRING MODEL ASHLEY, 22, was savagely stabbed 47 times in her Hollywood Hills bungalow shortly before Kutcher arrived to pick her up for a party in February 2001.

The actor – then starring in the hit sitcom “That ’70s Show” – told police that Ashley never came to the door.

Brittany investigation follows previous ex's death

Ashley Ellerin was found stabbed to death in her home

He said he looked through a window and saw what he thought was red wine pooled on the floor, but apparently didn't think much of it and left. Tragically, the “wine” was actually Ashley’s blood.

Kutcher “grieved for years over Ashley. It was a horrible ordeal,” a pal told The ENQUIRER in 2008. “He had nightmares over the killing.”

Air-conditioning repairman Michael Gargiulo, now behind bars at L.A. County Jail awaiting trial, was eventually charged in Ashley’s death and could be charged with the alleged murders of up to nine other women in California and Illinois.

Brittany Murphy died unexpectedly at age 32

Less than a year after Ashley’s grisly slaying, Kutcher began dating Brittany while they filmed the romcom “Just Married,” and he was stunned when she passed away at age 32 in December 2009.

“I don’t know if you (can) try to make sense of it or not,” Kutcher said on ABC’s “Nightline,” adding that Brittany “was like the person who walked in the room and she was always the first person to dance.”

The Los Angeles County coroner ruled that Brittany died of pneumonia, anemia and prescription drug intoxication.

But according to a lab report commissioned by her father, potentially lethal levels of heavy metals found in rat poison were discovered in a sample of Brittany’s hair.

“I absolutely think she was poisoned,” said her father Angelo Bertolotti, who reportedly believes Brittany was killed by rogue government agents due to her support of a high-profile whistle-blower.

Kutcher, now dating actress Mila Kunis, is devastated by the latest twist, said a source. “Ashton’s in total shock over this,” revealed the insider.

“He saw Brittany two months before she passed away. She’d come in to read for a TV show he was casting, and he couldn’t get his head around it when she died.

“Ashton loved Brittany and thought she was an incredible talent.

“He’s reached out to her family and offered to help in any way he can to find the truth.”

WARREN BEATTY and Annette Bening's marriage is falling apart at the seams – and friends fear the Hollywood power couple could be on the fast track to a $108 million divorce!

Insiders say the simmering tension over their transgender son Stephen's lifestyle has finally reached the boiling point, and the two haven't been seen photographed together in public for at least six months.

Stephen, 21, was born a female and named "Kathlyn." He began his transformation into becoming a man in 2010 and now takes hormones to sound and look more masculine, says a source.

Warren and Annette's son Stephen

Stephen made. In it, he protests a New York State Medicaid regulation that excludes transgender people from getting health-care coverage.

In addition to becoming an outspoken advocate for the transgender community, the college student also revealed on Twitter that he has a boyfriend, blithely noting: "I'm trans and gay. Double the fun."

That kind of behavior apparently doesn't sit well with his dad.

"Warren's an intensely private person and he'd rather that Stephen keep his sexuality more low-key," explained the source.

Another insider added: "Stephen's activism has deeply affected Annette and Warren's marriage. They don't communicate much and don't seem to want to be in each other's lives anymore."

"No one is cheating with anyone else – they've just drifted apart."

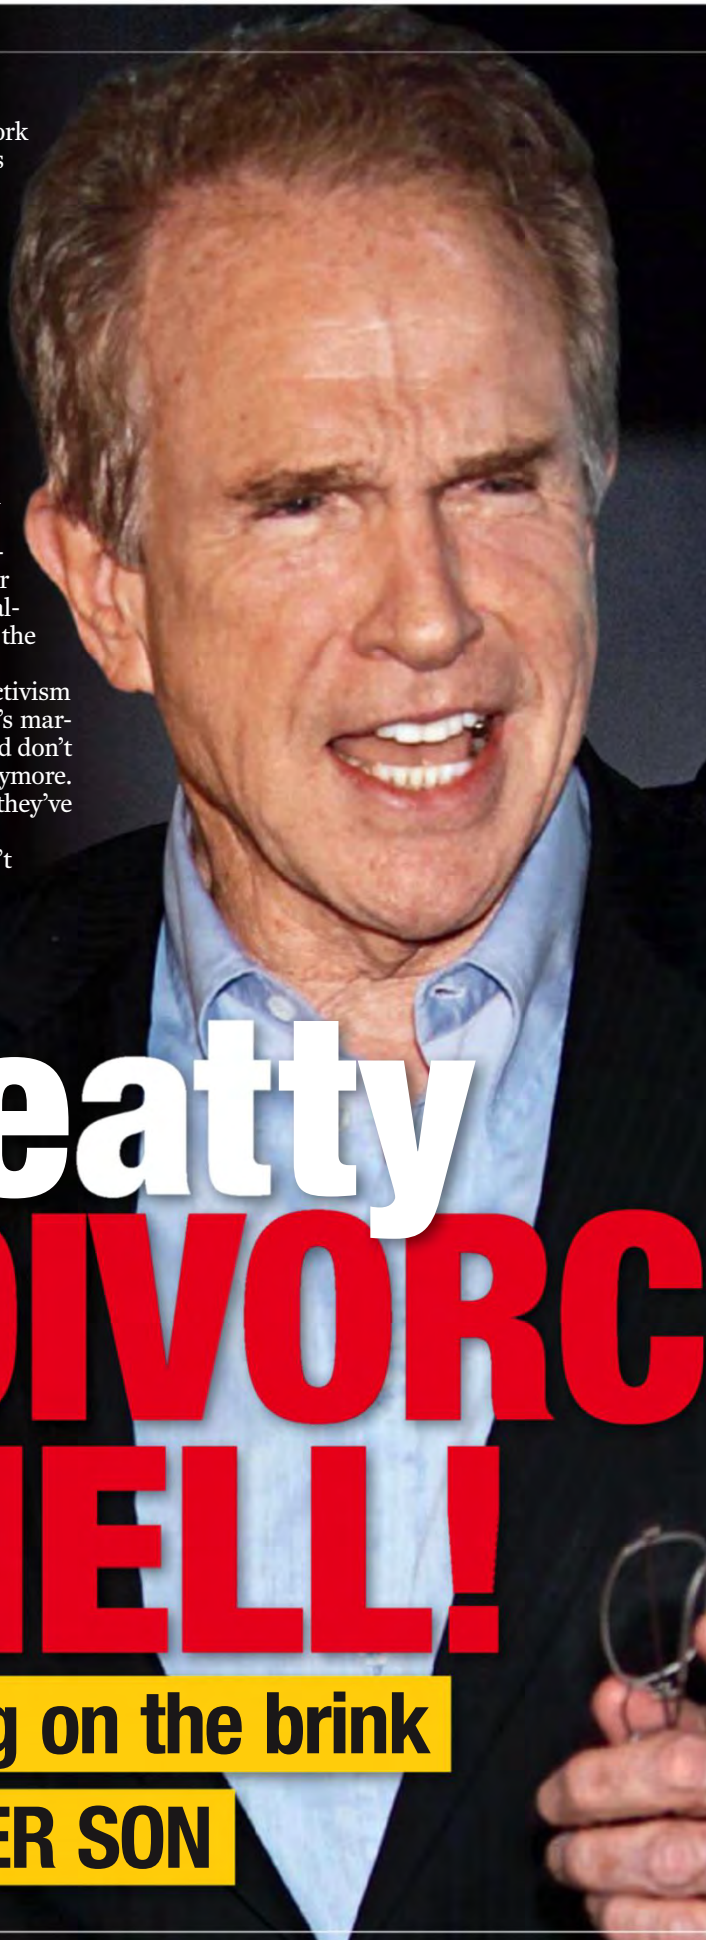

Annette's still-booming career hasn't helped. In fact, the four-time Oscar nominee has spent recent months filming a movie, "The Search," in Europe.

Meanwhile, the pair — who have three younger kids, Benjamin, 19, Isabel, 16, and Ella, 13 — sold their luxurious Beverly Hills mansion for $6.7 million a year ago, sparking talk that they are gearing up for a split.

AS THE ENQUIRER REPORTED IN 2010, THE SCREEN stars’ relationship took a hit when Stephen first began expressing his desire to switch genders. Although they briefly managed to get the rocky union back on track, things have since gone the other way. Warren has even turned to his famous older sister, Shirley MacLaine, 79, for emotional support and guidance, says the source. And Shirley, whose views on reincarnation are well-known, reportedly offered him an interesting take on the situation.

The source noted: “She’s been telling Warren that Stephen’s sexuality is tied to his past lives.”

WOMEN HE LOVED BEFORE...

BEFORE he settled down with Annette Bening in 1992, Warren Beatty was considered Hollywood’s leading ladies’ man. And his flings included some of the most famous women of modern times! The ENQUIRER looks at a few of the legendary Lothario’s conquests.

JACKIE ONASSIS

The former first lady had a red-hot fling with then 41-year-old Warren after she separated from second hubby Aristotle Onassis, but it didn’t last long.

In his book “Jackie After Jack,” author Christopher Anderson revealed the two had a falling out after Jackie learned Warren had blabbed about their relationship to Andy Warhol.

JANE FONDA

The “Barbarella” vixen said that after kissing Warren for the first time, during a screen test for the 1961 romantic drama “Parrish,” she thought he was gay.

“He was so cute, and all his men friends were gay and brilliant,” Jane later recalled. “And he liked to play piano in a piano bar — I mean, what were the odds he was straight? Shows you how dumb I was!”

But she soon wised up, and they enjoyed a torrid affair.

CHER

The “Believe” singer was 16 and had just left home when she met 25-year-old Warren in a nightclub. Although he was dating his “Splendor in the Grass” co-star Natalie Wood at the time, he took the teen back to his L.A. home.

Cher later said Warren’s skills in the bedroom didn’t live up to the hype.

VANNA WHITE

The pretty blonde “Wheel of Fortune” letter-turner launched a sizzling affair with the dashing star of “Ishtar” not long after the shocking death of her fiancé!

In May 1986, Vanna’s husband-to-be, actor John Gibson, a 37-year-old hunk who’d appeared in the daytime soap “The Young and the Restless,” was tragically killed in a plane crash.

But within weeks, bighearted Warren reportedly helped Vanna get over her loss.

RENE RUSSO BECAME A WRECK

Redhead cracked up as career caved in

RENE RUSSO is riding high starring in the blockbuster new "Thor" movie — but not long ago the redheaded beauty was mired in the throes of a secret breakdown so severe that she became a virtual recluse, often refusing to leave her home or even get dressed, said a source.

THE 59-YEAR-OLD ACTRESS suddenly dropped out of show business in 2005, was seldom seen at Hollywood events and didn't return until she played Thor's mother Frigga in the 2011 super-hero hit.

"After a string of box office failures, Rene came home one day, curled up into a ball and didn't come out of the house for months at a time," revealed an insider. "It was more than facing a mid-life crisis — she was a complete wreck!"

"She stopped functioning and went off the Hollywood grid. Close friends and family would find her curled up in a fetal position in the corner of her bedroom, crying."

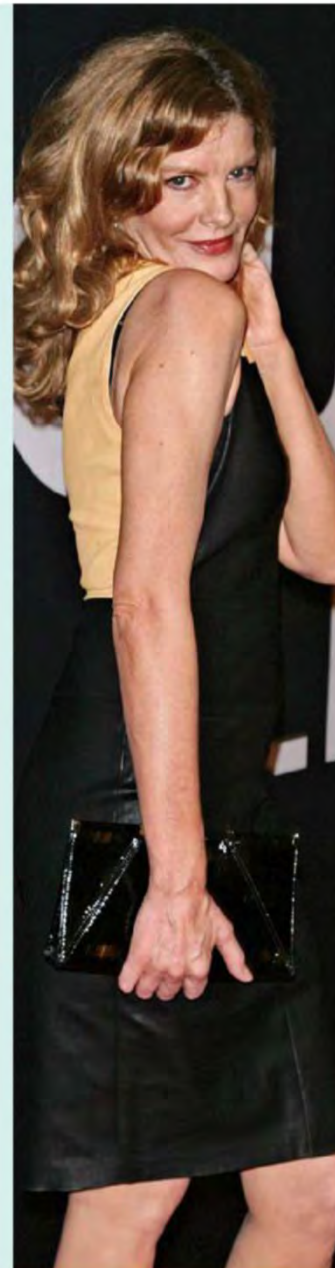

The actress — best known for her steamy clinches with Pierce Brosnan in the 1999 version of "The Thomas Crown Affair" — would call up pals in the middle of the night in tears, telling them how lonely she was.

"She would wear her bed clothes throughout the day — refusing to get dressed," said the source. "It was a dire situation."

BUT AN INSIDER CONFIDED that Rene was breaking down emotionally and physically.

"It took years, but her family, close friends and a therapist finally brought her out of her nightmare."

"Now she's working out daily and leaves the house every day with the renewed confidence of an A-list actress."

TIGER WOODS

Top golfer and serial cheater Tiger Woods, 37, claims he was attacked by some older kids his first day in kindergarten. "A group of sixth-graders tied me to a tree, spray-painted the N-word on me and threw rocks at me," Tiger recalled. Later on, he added, he "had to outrun all these kids while going home." But Tiger is getting the last laugh – he's still earning a fortune on the links and off!

SANDRA BULLOCK

The life of "Miss Congeniality" Sandra Bullock wasn't always so congenial – especially in junior high. At the time, she spoke with a lisp and had just returned to the U.S. after living in Europe. "I came back in the middle of puberty and I was not well-liked," Sandra, 49, later recalled. "I called it ass-kicking – they now call it bullying." But Sandra's mom encouraged her to embrace her uniqueness. "I've made peace with the fact that the things I thought were weaknesses or flaws were just me. I like them." Her advice for other kids struggling with bullies: "Don't change! Be who you are."

VICTORIOUS VICTIM

STARS WHO WERE BULLIED!

Beaten & abused, they overcame the odds TO MAKE IT TO THE TOP

LADY GAGA

Super-singer Lady Gaga kicked in $1.2 million to start the Born This Way Foundation, an organization that counts battling bullying among its missions. The issue is an important one for the 27-year-old "Applause" singer because she was targeted by vicious bullies as a teen. "I was called really horrible, profane names very loudly in front of huge crowds of people, and my schoolwork suffered at one point," she said. "I was so ashamed of who I was." These days, Gaga is one of the most popular and flamboyant entertainers in the business – and there's definitely no shame in her game anymore!

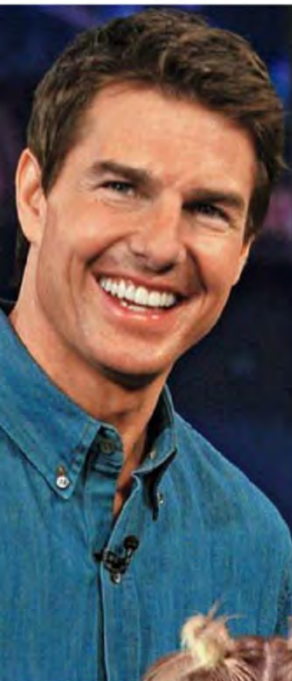

MONEY, glamour, fame...Hollywood celebrities look like they have it all. But life before the A-list wasn't always a picnic for some of today's hottest stars, who were bullied like scores of kids today. "Bullying is everywhere, even among kids who would grow up to be Hollywood stars," says Dr. Allan L. Beane, author of "The Bully Free Classroom" and a nationally recognized expert on the subject. "These celebrities managed to succeed despite being bullied, but many never do. They carry the baggage of bullying through their whole lives."

by JOHN BLOSSER

jblosser@nationalenquirer.com

TOM CRUISE

Tom Cruise, 51, may play rough, tough action heroes in movies like "Mission: Impossible," but until he learned to fight back against the bullies, they made his life a living hell. "So many times the big bully comes up, pushes me," he said. "Your heart's pounding, you sweat, and you feel like you're going to vomit. I'm not the biggest guy. I never liked hitting someone, but I know if I don't hit that guy hard, he's going to pick on me all year. I go, 'You better fight.' I just laid it down. I don't like bullies." Today, Tom saves his hand-to-hand combat for the big screen!

GETTING THE LAST LAUGH

MILEY CYRUS

It's hard to imagine Miley Cyrus ever being a victim, but the "Wrecking Ball" beauty says she was bullied mercilessly by bigger girls when she was a preteen growing up in Tennessee. "The girls took it beyond bullying," recalled the 21-year-old former "Hannah Montana" star. "I was scrawny and short. They were fully capable of doing me bodily harm." Once, the girls even locked her in the school bathroom. "They shoved me in," Miley said. "I was trapped. I banged on the door until my fists hurt. Nobody came. I spent what felt like an hour in there, waiting for someone to rescue me, wondering how my life had gotten so messed up." Little Miley has definitely turned the tables on those "mean girls" – and they probably won't be getting any free concert tickets anytime soon!

JUSTIN TIMBERLAKE

Justin Timberlake, 32, says if you didn't play football in his hometown of Memphis, Tenn., the other kids would call you a sissy. "I got slurs all the time because I was into music and art," said the Emmy- and Grammy-winner. "I was an outcast in a lot of ways, but everything that you get picked on for, or you feel makes you weird, is essentially what's going to make you sexy as an adult." And we all know JT brought the "SexyBack"!

ROBERT PATTINSON

"Twilight" star Robert Pattinson, 27, says he was bullied after he discovered how much he loved acting. "I got beaten up by a lot of people when I was younger," he said. "I was a bit of an idiot, but I always thought the assaults were unprovoked. It was after I first started acting and I liked to behave like an actor, or how I thought an actor was supposed to be, and that apparently provoked a lot of people into hitting me." Women everywhere are glad those beatings didn't leave permanent damage!

SPURRED on by angry stepmom Barbra Streisand, “Gangster Squad” star Josh Brolin entered rehab to kick booze and save his marriage, sources say.

The 45-year-old actor – whose wife, actress Diane Lane, filed for divorce in February – checked into a Northern California facility on Nov. 15.

Sources say the “True Grit” hunk finally recognized he needed help after getting into a shouting match with a cab driver and a boozy scuffle with a bar bouncer on the same night.

Adding to Brolin’s woes, his bad-boy behavior was caught on video and posted on the Internet.

“JOSH FINALLY ADMITTED HE wasn’t going to live long like this,” said a friend.

“He’s had a series of arrests and misadventures tied to his drinking, and his life has fallen apart as a result.

“He really seems to want to get better, which is the first step.”

As The ENQUIRER has reported, Brolin’s liquored-up antics with a cab driver in the drive-thru of a Hollywood fast food joint and a bouncer at a Santa Monica bar on Nov. 1 sparked a war between his father James Brolin and wife Barbra.

“Barbra told James if he was any kind of father, he would take action immediately, that Josh is an embarrassment and a danger to himself and others,” said a source.

“Josh doesn’t have any lost love for Barbra, but he felt badly that his problems were causing trouble for his dad. And as much as he hated to admit Barbra was right, he realized he needs help.”

Josh was once the toast of Hollywood – with a Best Supporting Actor Oscar nomination for the 2008 biopic “Milk” along with praise for his role as President George W. Bush in “W,” and work in the 2007 drama “No Country for Old Men.”

But the hard-drinking “Men in Black 3” star has also suffered repeated brushes with the law, including being detained for public intoxication in Santa Monica on New Year’s Day and a bust after a barroom brawl in Louisiana in 2008, although charges were ultimately dropped.

The divorce from “Secretariat” star Lane has yet to be finalized, and sources say Brolin – who has two children from his first marriage – hopes his rehab stint will save their eight-year union.

“Diane believed Josh’s boozing was a big detriment to their happiness, and she finally had to call it quits,” the friend said.

“Josh hopes he can show Diane he’s a changed man and convince her to call off the divorce.

“The guy has been on a downhill slide for years. He’s finally ready to get help, but only time will tell if Josh will really be able to straighten out his life.”

A WAIF-LIKE 25-year-old is not only determined to marry Charles Manson – she also wants to have the mad-man's baby!

A source says that's the shocking secret behind the evil 79-year-old's stunning revelation that he plans to wed the groupie that he's nicknamed Star.

The notorious murderer boasted about their bizarre relationship in a recent interview, and now The ENQUIRER can reveal intimate details of the couple's sick, twisted life and their plans for a future together. "Star is 'madly' in love with Charlie, to use the word loosely – and she'd like nothing better than to have his baby," said a close source.

Manson is serving a life sentence at California's Corcoran State Prison for his role in the brutal 1969 murders of movie director Roman Polanski's actress wife Sharon Tate and Los Angeles residents Rosemary and Leno LaBianca – and Star visits him regularly there. While prison regulations would allow the couple to marry, conjugal visits for inmates serving a life sentence are forbidden. But Manson could conceivably sidestep that rule, said the source.

"ANYTHING IS POSSIBLE," THE SOURCE pointed out. "Manson could attempt to have a sample of his sperm smuggled out of the prison so Star could impregnate herself – or even persuade guards to look the other way while they have a quickie."

The "Helter Skelter" fiend boasted in "Rolling Stone" magazine that he spends up to 10 hours every weekend with Star in the prison's visiting area.

Star bears an eerie resemblance to Manson disciple Susan Atkins, whom he called "Sexy Sadie" after The Beatles song. Atkins was sent to prison for life for the brutal Tate-LaBianca killings and died behind bars in 2009.

But in the interview, Star insisted that she doesn't want to be compared to Atkins, who gutted the 8 1/2-months-pregnant actress while Tate begged for her life.

Referring to Atkins, Star snapped: "That b* was f crazy...She didn't know what she was doing."

Star says she was raised by strict Baptist parents near St. Louis, Mo. When she refused to attend church and began taking drugs, they locked her in her bedroom.

She'd never heard of Manson but became enthralled with the wild-eyed cult leader after reading that he believes "Air is God, because without air, we do not exist."

She began writing to him, and when she was 19, she used $2,000 in savings to move near Corcoran so she could be close to her idol. The unlikely pair began a relationship, and in a series of photos posted on Manson's website, Star cuddles with the depraved killer.

Other shots show her with a shaved head and the same "X" carved into her forehead that other brainwashed members of the Manson "family" copied during the trial.

She lives in a cramped apartment near the prison, and when she's not with Manson, she spends her time online, devoting herself to rehabilitating his image and ordering goodies for his quarterly-allowed gift box.

In the interview, Star defended their odd courtship, saying: "Yeah, well, people can think I'm crazy, but they don't know. This is what's right for me. This is what I was born for."

She adds: "I'll tell you straight up, Charlie and I are going to get married. When that will be, we don't know. But I take it very seriously. Charlie is my husband."

BUT AN EXPERT WHO HAS NOT MET STAR

says her fascination with Manson is a classic case of rebellion.

"Star's seeming infatuation with this mass murderer, while obviously highly unusual, appears to be a classic case of a young woman wanting to rebel against her strict family upbringing," Dr. Robi Ludwig, a psychotherapist and host of the TLC program, "One Week to Save Your Marriage," told The ENQUIRER. Ludwig has not treated Star.

"She may also enjoy the reflected attention she gets from being part of this infamous and notorious criminal's life."

Manson, who was denied parole for the 12th time in 2012, has two ex-wives and at least three children. In prison, he's befriended fellow inmate Phillip Garrido, the creep who kidnapped Jaycee Dugard when she was 11 and raped her repeatedly while keeping her prisoner for 18 years.

Looking ahead, Star says if Manson is released, they'll move in with her family.

"My parents like Charlie," she noted in the interview. "They said, 'If Charlie gets out, you guys can come stay here.'"

But Dr. Ludwig warns that living with a man old enough to be her grandfather wouldn't be easy.

"As long as he's in prison, she can keep him at arm's length," Dr. Ludwig said.

"But if they lived together as man and wife, being with him could lose a lot of its luster."

RENEE'S TURNING INTO JENNIFER LAWRENCE!

LOOK out, Jennifer Lawrence – Renee Zellweger is gunning for your career!

After lying low for a few years, the 44-year-old “Bridget Jones’s Diary” actress is angling for a Hollywood comeback – and she’s looking at the much-younger “Hunger Games” star as a role model.

Renee is not only trying out for the same film projects as Jennifer, she’s also making herself over to look like her.

“Renee is obsessed,” disclosed an insider. “Ever since Jennifer broke through in (the 2010 drama) ‘Winter’s Bone,’ Renee has been watching her career closely.”

According to the insider, Renee admires how the young actress juggles big-budget popcorn movies like “The Hunger Games: Catching Fire” and “X-Men” with more thoughtful projects such as “Like Crazy” and “Silver Linings Playbook,” for which she won a Best Actress Oscar.

And despite the age difference, Renee ordered her agents to get her the same scripts 23-year-old Jennifer is being offered.

“IT SOUNDS CRAZY, BUT RENEE sees a lot of her younger self in Jennifer,” said the insider. “She’s even restyling herself to fit Jennifer’s mold.”

On Nov. 2, Renee stepped out with a drastically different look. It appears she underwent a cosmetic procedure to open up her trademark “squinty” eyes – and now she bears

Has Zellweger, 44, HAD COSMETIC WORK TO LOOK LIKE YOUNG RIVAL?

ENQUIRER's recent story on Renee and her boyfriend planning to adopt an uncanny resemblance to Jennifer.

Since her last big-screen appearance in 2010's “My Own Love Song” – which went straight to DVD in the U.S. after a showing at the Tribeca Film Festival – Renee has been focusing on her personal life.

As THE ENQUIRER recently reported, the actress and her boyfriend, musician Doyle Bramhall II, are planning to adopt a child in the near future.

“Now that she’s happy, in love and gearing up for a baby, she’s ready to storm back into the Hollywood game,” said the insider. “And she believes that by modeling herself after Jennifer Lawrence, she’ll soar back into A-list career glory again.”

“Renee has been watching her career closely”

WITH the much-anticipated release of "The Hunger Games: Catching Fire," the movie's 23-year-old star Jennifer Lawrence is the HOTTEST thing in Hollywood. And while you may think you know everything about the Oscar-winning beauty, The ENQUIRER has uncovered 20 little known facts about her.

1. The youngest of three, Jennifer was a "surprise" baby.

2. As a kid, she says she was always looking to one-up people. "Somebody would be like, 'Oh, God, my legs hurt.' I'd be like, 'Your legs hurt? I'm getting mine amputated next week!'"

3. She admits she doesn't wash her hands after using the bathroom.

4. Jennifer saw a therapist because she had a hard time fitting in with other kids.

5. Jennifer went through a phase where she enjoyed painting acrylics of naked women.

6. She was just 9 when she auditioned for a role as a prostitute in a church production based on the Book of Jonah – and got the part because she came to the tryout "swinging her booty," said her mom.

7. Thanks to shooting most of her scenes for "X-Men" in the buff, Jennifer says she's now totally comfortable with public nudity.

8. Her idol is Jodie Foster, who directed and starred alongside Jennifer in the 2011 Mel Gibson clunker "The Beaver."

9. Bill Engvall was like a "second father" during the three seasons she starred as his daughter on "The Bill Engvall Show."

10. Jennifer prefers British men to American guys because she thinks the Brits are more humble.

11. She likes booze and even got drunk on the set of "The Hunger Games."

12. She says she's always known drugs were a surefire way to ruin her life and has never touched them.

13. She broke up with "X-Men" co-star Nicholas Hoult in January because he didn't wring out the sponges in her kitchen sink after using them. (They got back together in August.)

Nicholas Hoult

14. A master archer, Jennifer once almost used her bow and arrow to shoot what she thought was a home invader. It turned out to be men hired to work on her house.

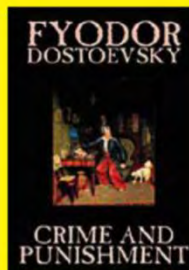

15. Jennifer once went to a strip club in Georgia and got a lap dance from a stripper named "Little Bo Peep."

16. Jennifer is an avid horseback rider and has been thrown several times, once breaking her tailbone – and now it's disfigured.

17. She is extremely superstitious and afraid of ghosts.

18. She always makes a wish when the clock says "11:11."

19. Jennifer says when she first read "Crime and Punishment" by Russian author Fyodor Dostoyevsky, it was the first time she could imagine herself as a character. Now she tries to read the novel once a year.

20. She's obsessed with reality TV, including "Keeping Up with the Kardashians," "Here Comes Honey Boo Boo" and "Wife Swap."

WHITE HOUSE RUN WILL KILL HILLARY

Clinton docs issue DEADLY MEDICAL WARNING

HILLARY CLINTON has secretly decided to run for president in 2016, but doctors have warned that pursuing her dream of becoming America's first female commander in chief could kill her!

In a bombshell world exclusive, The ENQUIRER has learned Hillary wants to spurn her doctors' advice and announce her candidacy on June 4, 2014 – the day her late mother would have turned 95.

Sources say the 66-year-old former first lady and her husband Bill are already laying the groundwork to build a $5 BILLION war chest to fund her campaign, with their daughter Chelsea playing a major role.

But after surviving a string of devastating medical crises, Hillary remains haunted by her historic decision, and insiders say anxiety over her well-being could derail her candidacy.

"HILLARY'S DOCTORS HAVE PAINTED A GRIM picture of her health," said a close source. "Behind the scenes, they're telling her, 'Running for president will kill you.' But Hillary wants to ignore her doctors because she's so desperate to be America's first female president.

"She believes it's what she was put on earth to do, and there's no convincing her otherwise.

"But Bill, who has wrestled with severe health issues including several heart operations, is telling Hillary that they need to think long and hard about this."

As The ENQUIRER has reported, former secretary of state Hillary has struggled with a number of health concerns.

She faced a brain cancer scare after a fainting spell resulted in a concussion in December 2012. Following extensive testing, doctors discovered a blood clot in a vein between Hillary's brain and her skull behind her right ear. The dangerous clot was dissolved with blood thinners during a frightening hospital stay. She also fainted while speaking in Buffalo, N.Y., in 2005. In 2009, she broke her elbow in a fall in the State Department garage, and in January 2011

she collapsed while boarding a flight in Yemen.

Dr. Jerome Spunberg, a radiation oncologist and medical expert in West Palm Beach, Fla., who has not treated Hillary, suspects she may have underlying medical issues.

"The blood clot and fainting spells reveal that she is not in the best of health," Dr. Spunberg told The ENQUIRER.

"She's probably suffering from some form of cardiovascular disease that may be causing dangerous changes in blood pressure and a tendency to develop blood clots. As she gets older, the pressures of running for office – and, if she wins, assuming the presidency – can increase her risk of heart attack, stroke and other deadly diseases."

Dr. Gabe Mirkin, author of "The Healthy Heart Miracle," who has not treated Hillary, says he's noted "a radical change" in her, and believes the truth about her medical condition has been withheld from the public.

"In the past, she was an incredibly vigorous woman who experienced many stressful situations without succumbing to health issues," Dr. Mirkin told The ENQUIRER.

"She may have an underlying medical issue, like a brain tumor."

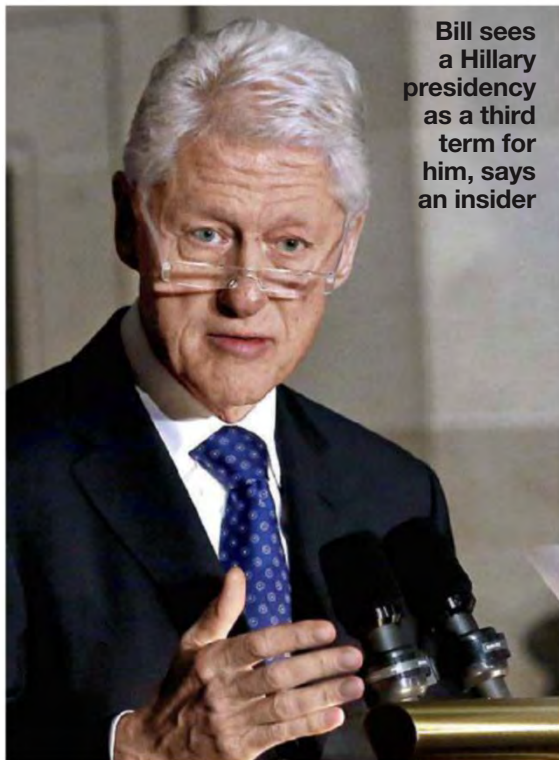

Despite doctors' warnings, Hillary decided to run for president after a heart-to-heart talk with Bill around their 38th wedding anniversary on Oct. 11, a political insider told The ENQUIRER.

"Hillary will likely defy her doctors and announce her candidacy on June 4, which would have been her mother Dorothy's 95th birthday," a family insider told The ENQUIRER.

"Hillary simply cannot be stopped. Even when she was suffering from the blood clot near her brain, she told Bill and Chelsea that she was intent on raising a '$5 billion war chest' for her campaign.

"They tossed out names of possible supporters while Hillary was still in her hospital bed."

The Hillary-for-President bandwagon has already attracted big-bucks donors, including billionaire investor Warren Buffett, market speculator George Soros and director Steven Spielberg and his wife Kate Capshaw.

CHELSEA, 33, WILL PLAY A SIGNIFICANT role in the campaign, but without her husband, Marc Mezvinsky, said a source.

"Bill and Hillary are intent on Chelsea having a baby soon, and then having Chelsea campaign with the baby," said the source.

"They believe Chelsea's presence as a new mom will attract young female voters. That's not going to sit well with Marc, who's continually felt frozen out by the Clintons. But Chelsea will do whatever she can for her mom. She's a Clinton first and a wife second."

The political insider added: "Having Chelsea and the baby involved will make the family look younger and give a Kennedy-like 'Camelot' touch to the campaign."

Meanwhile, former president Clinton, 67, is working feverishly to put his wife in the Oval Office, said the source.

"Bill has visited nearly every state in the union, recruiting rich donors, political supporters and volunteers," the political insider told The ENQUIRER. "As badly as Hillary wants to get back into the White House, Bill wants it more. It would be like a third term for him and give him a chance to build on his presidential legacy."

It would also give the Clintons the opportunity for payback with President Barack Obama, said the source.

“She may have an underlying medical issue, like a brain tumor”

"Hillary felt she deserved the nomination five years ago, and Barack stole it right out from under her," said the insider.

"Ever since then, a Clinton-Obama feud has been simmering right below the surface."

"With the president and Democrats going up in flames over the Obamacare fiasco, Bill told Hillary, 'You have to save America.'"

"Now the only question is whether Hillary will decide to save her health first."

George W. Bush, with his sharp sense of humor, took Jay Leno by surprise

George W. Bush
WISECRACKS ON LENO

Plus!
OTHER
WHITE HOUSE
FUNNYGUYS

FORMER President George W. Bush showed off his sharp sense of humor during a recent TV appearance on “The Tonight Show” – and even took some hilarious swipes at himself. Making light of host Jay Leno’s impending departure from the show next spring, the president cracked: “You’re about to head out to pasture. Just wanted to see what you look like, before you got to the gate.”

THE FORMER COMMANDER-in-chief also revealed why he’s taken up painting since leaving office. He said he told his instructor: “There’s a Rembrandt trapped in this body – your job is to find him.”

And when Jay asked why he had a cat named Bob, Bush shot back: “So I could remember how to spell it when I got older.”

A rib-tickling new book reveals that George W. wasn’t the only president who could nail a one-liner. But

If I were two-faced, would I be wearing this one?”

Ronald Reagan was the wittiest, say Phil Dampier & Ashley Walton, the authors of “White House Wit, Wisdom and Wisecracks.”

Among Reagan’s funniest quips: “I have left orders to be awakened at any time in case of national emergency – even if I’m in a Cabinet meeting.”

“Before I refuse to take your questions, I have an opening statement...”

“I have often wondered what the Ten Commandments would have looked like if Moses had to run them through Congress.”

But other presidents also could tickle the funny bone. In assessing the quality of life in the White House, Bill Clinton said: “I don’t know if it’s the finest public housing in America or the crown jewel of the American penal system.”

And on his job as Chief Executive, Clinton noted: “Being president is like running a cemetery. You’ve (got) a lot of people under you and nobody’s listening.”

CLINTON’S IDOL, JOHN KENNEDY, was a great ad-libber. When asked how he became a World War II hero, JFK deadpanned: “It was involuntary. They sank my boat.”

Gerald Ford was also a master of self-deprecating wit. On his less-than-stellar golf game, he said: “I know I’m getting better because I’m hitting fewer spectators.”

Turning philosophical, Ford quipped: “The three-martini lunch is the epitome of American efficiency. Where else can you get an earful, a bellyful and a snootful at the same time?”

Peanut farmer Jimmy Carter could also shell out snappy one-liners, once joking: “I’ve often wanted to drown my troubles – but I can’t get my wife to go swimming!”

Throughout our history, presidents have relied on their humor to ease White House woes. Even Abraham Lincoln could make fun of himself, saying: “If I were two-faced, would I be wearing this one?”

Presidents Bill Clinton, Ronald Reagan, John F. Kennedy and Jimmy Carter were all hysterically funny at times

FANGS A LOT, MADONNA!

'Material Girl' buying booze-plagued brother a new set of teeth

SUPERSTAR Madonna is so proud that her big brother Martin Ciccone is clean and sober that she's promised to buy the long-struggling alcoholic a new set of teeth!

Martin, 56, one of the Material Girl's five siblings, has led a troubled life. Over the past few decades, he battled substance abuse issues, has been arrested for DUI, served time in jail and done multiple stints in rehab.

But in a candid exclusive interview with The ENQUIRER, Martin reveals that he's been off the bottle for the past year. And now that he's turned his life around, he and Madonna have patched up their once-contentious relationship.

"We're on good terms, and she's helping me out," said Martin, who works at a Hollywood rehab facility. "She's getting me some new teeth. I'm hoping to start doing voice-over work again for cartoons and video games and get back on my feet."

MADONNA CERTAINLY HAS THE means to help. The 55-year-old diva was recently ranked the world's highest-paid celebrity of 2013 by "Forbes Magazine," pocketing $125 million from June 2012 to June 2013 thanks to her hit MDNA tour.

Meanwhile, it's been a rough road to sobriety for Martin. He's been arrested three times for drunk driving. The third one landed him in jail for three months after he got into an accident.

His bond with his famous sister hasn't always been as good as it is now.

In 1994 he released an album, "Judgment Day," under the name MC Ciccone. On it, he rapped about being raped in jail and made numerous digs at Madonna.

Still, five years later, Madonna turned the other cheek and paid for Martin, who is divorced with a daughter, to go to rehab.

Martin is grateful to Madonna for her generosity and is planning to "pay it forward" by trying to save his and Madonna's oldest brother, Anthony, who's also reportedly an alcoholic, although he denies it.

Anthony has been homeless on the freezing streets of Michigan for the last three years after losing his job at the Ciccone family vineyard for drinking the wine from the vats. Anthony claims he was fired because his father does not like him.

In an interview in March, Anthony said: "Madonna doesn't give a s if I'm dead or alive. She lives in her own world."

But Martin insists that's not true, saying: "She wants to help him, but he doesn't help himself."

The guitarist (circled below, with the Beatles) had a $300 million fortune

GEORGE HARRISON left a staggering fortune of more than $300 million, but the Beatles legend's older sister is broke and living in a mobile home in a rundown, crime-infested section of Branson, Mo.

Still, the plucky senior says she gets by with a little help from her friends.

"I don't have any money, but I've got loads and loads of good friends, and that's more valuable than all the money in the world," Louise, 82, told The ENQUIRER in an exclusive interview.

HER WORLD-FAMOUS BROTHER — who lived in a 120-room Victorian mansion in England — died on Nov. 29, 2001, leaving his vast wealth to his wife Olivia and son Dhani, now 35 and fronting an alternative rock group called the newno2. But Louise said she didn't get a cent and had to sell her house just to survive. These days, Louise lives in

"We've been struggling for the last two years or so," she told The ENQUIRER. Meanwhile, Louise dreams of being able to leave her Merriam Woods neighborhood, called by residents "the worst suburb of Branson."

One year later... HAGMAN WIDOW DOESN'T REALIZE HE'S DEAD

Alzheimer's-stricken Maj 'IN HER OWN WORLD'

Larry in later years with wife Maj. Above right, the actor (circled) with the original "Dallas" cast. At right, granddaughter Noel

ONE year after the death of beloved "Dallas" star Larry Hagman, his Alzheimer's-stricken widow, Maj Axelsson, still doesn't realize her husband is gone.

And sadly, The ENQUIRER has learned that his estate is in disarray. His Ojai, Calif., home – which he dubbed "Heaven" – was sold to a Scientology-linked nonprofit and his family has been feuding over some of his most precious keepsakes.

HAGMAN, WHO WAS BEST KNOWN FOR HIS ROLE as Texas oil tycoon J.R. Ewing on "Dallas," died on Nov. 23, 2012, at the age of 81.

Last spring, an attorney for Hagman's estate filed legal papers claiming that the actor's granddaughter Noel took jewelry that had been given to Hagman by his mother, actress Mary Martin, and refused to return it. Noel reportedly believes the jewelry was a gift to her.

"Larry would be spinning in his grave," said an insider. "It appears that his granddaughter swiped his mom's baubles and, half the time, Maj seems clueless that he's dead.

"For a while, she used to ask when he was coming over."

As The ENQUIRER reported in February, caregivers for Larry's wife of 58 years were letting her tune in to reruns of the "Dallas" reboot so she could see her late husband. "She'd even been talking to Larry when he appeared on TV," a family source said. "She's in her own world."

The show's cast and crew – including both "Dallas" veterans such as Patrick Duffy and Linda Gray as well as newcomers like Josh Henderson and Jesse Metcalfe – pay homage to the late actor on an upcoming DVD set, "Memories of Larry Hagman: A Cast and Crew Tribute." The four-disc set will also include the 2013 season of the show.

But it's unlikely that Maj will ever see it. Her caregivers won't let her watch the episodes that deal with J.R.'s death. The source added: "Maj continues to be happy in her world convinced that Larry is alive and well."

below the poverty line and have an average annual income of only $17,796.

"I would like to be able to afford to move somewhere better," Louise admitted. "But when you don't have much money, there's not much you can do. I'm pretty broke."

"A mobile home – that's where I live. That's all I can afford."

TIMES WERE NOT ALWAYS SO HARD FOR LOUISE.

The year before the Beatles exploded with their appearance on "The Ed Sullivan Show" in 1964, George visited Louise for a couple of weeks at her house in Benton, Ill. She later sold the home, and it was turned into a bed and breakfast that she helped promote by using George's name.

Unfortunately, that put her at odds with George

Louise with the Beatles tribute band she manages. At right, with George in 1964 and they didn't speak for six years. But weeks before he died of cancer, George relented and they healed the rift as he lay in a New York hospital bed.

Louise says she also endured two bad marriages but was helped out by George in 1980 when he gave her a $2,000-a-month pension to help her make ends meet. After his death, she adds, she was cut off completely.

"When he died, the Harrison Family Trust didn't want to give that (pension) to me anymore, and I wasn't in any position to argue," said Louise.

"I guess I got screwed."

"I'm 82 and still working. Whoever decided I was not deserving of $2,000 a month anymore, that person obviously does not have much of a soul or a heart or anything else."

"I'd rather be myself and be kind and compassionate and friendly with all the people around me and be broke, than be very rich and be absolutely heartless and cruel."

"But I don't blame anybody and I'm not unhappy. I'm a Harrison. The way our parents brought us up is not to be dependent on anybody else."

Added a former neighbor of Louise's: "It's awful that she's forced to live in such a terrible environment at her age."

IMMANUEL and Cara Lee Williams weren't about to let anything get in the way of their alleged bank-robbing spree – even the birth of their baby!

The terrible twosome from Tampa, Fla., have been accused of robbing 15 banks over 11 months, taking a few weeks off last December so Cara Lee could recuperate after delivering the couple's child.

Incredibly, just three weeks after the tot's Dec. 15, 2012, birth, cops say Cara Lee and Immanuel hit two Florida banks in one day!

"It's an amazing story," said a law enforcement official. "Truth really is stranger than fiction. They're being called the new 'Bonnie & Clyde' – but the original Bonnie didn't give birth to a baby while robbing banks."

The crime spree began on Dec. 5, 2012, when the pair, both 28, allegedly robbed a Chase bank in Tampa. As a string of other banks suffered the same fate, police and the FBI noticed similarities among the heists.

"IN EACH OF THE ROBBERIES, THE black male wore long-sleeve shirts, a hat and/or a wig, and gloves and/or tape on his hands and fingers," said an 18-page FBI affidavit released by the U.S. Attorney in Tampa.

The suspects were so brazen they even hit two banks on one day on more than one occasion. On Jan. 9, Immanuel allegedly walked into a Chase bank in Brandon, Fla., wearing a cap and long-sleeved dress shirt and passed over his demand note to a teller. Less than an hour later, he's accused of hitting a SunTrust Bank in nearby Seffner and fleeing with the money on foot.

Immanuel and Cara Lee Williams are suspected of having committed multiple heists over a span of 11 months at 15 Florida banks. If convicted, they face up to 20 years in prison

THE NEW BONNIE & CLYDE!

Married couple ROBBED BANKS
WHILE WIFE WAS PREGNANT – cops

The couple spaced out their robberies for the rest of the year, until Aug. 28, when they allegedly held up the Bank of America in Auburndale, Fla. – the same bank they'd robbed back on Feb. 21 – before knocking off the MidFlorida Credit Union in nearby Davenport just over an hour later.

And all the while, the two managed to hold down jobs with Immanuel working part time as a postal employee and Cara Lee employed at...a bank!

THE BRAZEN SPREE BEGAN TO unravel after the Davenport heist, when surveillance video from a local business showed what looked to be Immanuel getting into a black Mercedes-Benz sports utility vehicle. They sent a request to Florida Turnpike officials asking if a similar vehicle passed through a nearby toll plaza.

"Bingo," said a law enforcement official. "Images of a 2011 Mercedes-Benz were recorded and tracked to the registered owner – Cara Lee Williams. She also had a white 2012 Ford Mustang that had also been used in some of the robberies."

The couple were charged with conspiracy to obstruct, delay, or affect commerce by robbery and conspiracy to commit bank robbery. If convicted on all charges, each faces a maximum penalty of 20 years in federal prison.

JEN GARNER SPYING ON HUBBY BEN

JENNIFER GARNER has tapped gay pal Neil Patrick Harris to keep an eye on her hunky husband Ben Affleck while filming their new movie.

Sources say Jen is petrified hound-dog Ben will succumb to the charms of his gorgeous "Gone Girl" co-star Emily Ratajkowski.

"Jen has asked Neil to watch Ben like a hawk, especially around Emily," an insider told The ENQUIRER.

"HE HAS A LEGENDARY WEAKNESS FOR beautiful women, and Jen's terrified he won't be able to resist her."

The 22-year-old London-born model-turned-actress plays Affleck's mistress in the thriller.

But she's best known for going topless in Robin Thicke's "Blurred Lines" music video, which notched a staggering 219 million hits on YouTube.

"It's obvious Emily has no inhibitions about using her sexuality in her work," the source said.

"And she'll definitely share some hot scenes with Ben."

"Gone Girl" is based on a best-selling novel about a woman who disappears on her fifth wedding anniversary.

Affleck, 41, plays the missing woman's husband, while Harris, 40, has the part of her ex-boyfriend.

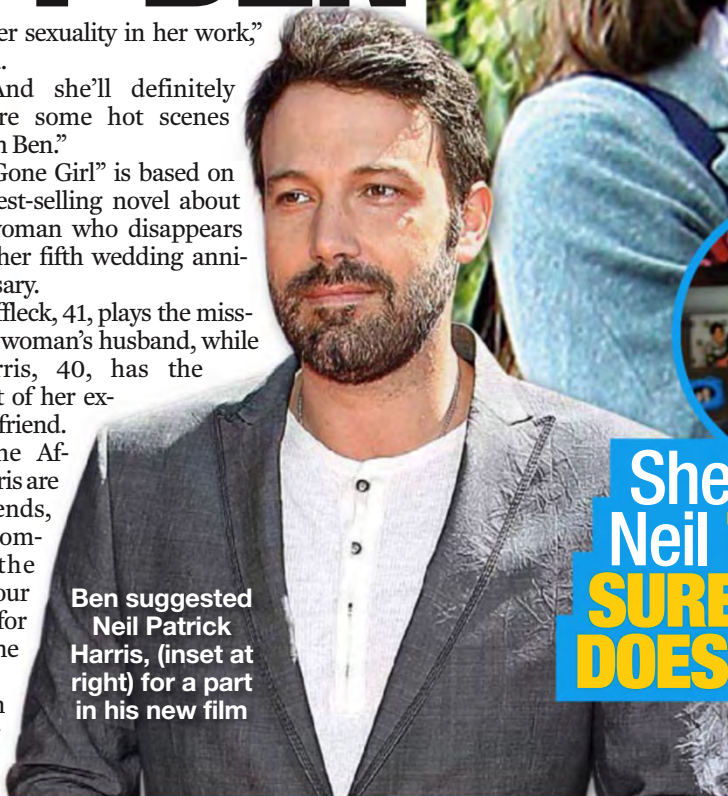

The Af-

flecks and Harris are longtime friends, and Ben recommended the "How I Met Your Mother" star for the role, said the source.

"In a way, Jen used the favor bank when

Depp's girl hot for Angie Bisexual Amber DESPERATE TO MEET GIRL-CRUSH JOLIE

JOHNNY DEPP's bisexual squeeze Amber Heard is nursing a girl crush on Angelina Jolie – and she desperately wants Johnny to introduce them!

"Most guys would have no problem with that," a source told The ENQUIRER. "But the fact that both Amber and Angie have enjoyed lesbian relationships gives Johnny some cause for worry."

The "Pirates of the Caribbean" star,

50, famously dumped his longtime love Vanessa Paradis for Amber, 27, after co-starring with her in the 2009 film, "The Rum Diary."

Meanwhile, he and Angelina, 38, became pals while filming "The Tourist," and they still stay in touch, said the source.

Angie had an affair with Jenny Shimizu

She’s relying on Neil to keep her husband in line”

The ENQUIRER exposed Ben’s wandering eye in our Aug. 19, 2003 issue

she enlisted Neil as an on-set spy,” the source added.

“Neil hated getting dragged into their problems, but he reluctantly agreed to tip Jen off to anything suspicious.”

Affleck’s notorious wandering eye was first exposed by The ENQUIRER in 2003 when we revealed that he’d frolicked with a group of Vancouver strippers while engaged to Jennifer Lopez.

J.Lo dumped him, and rumors of marital trouble have reportedly plagued the Afflecks – parents of three young children – almost since they tied the knot in 2005.

“Sometimes Ben’s his own worst enemy,” noted the source.

“He’s got gambling issues, a tremendous ego and an eye for the ladies. But he really does love Jen and he’s a wonderful father.

“Still, it’s Jen who holds the family together. And right now she’s relying on Neil to keep her husband in line.”

by JERRY GEORGE
tips@nationalenquirer.com

“Johnny feels Amber and Angie have a lot in common,” added the source. “But he’s just not sure where a friendship between them would go. A part of him fears that if he introduces them, sparks could fly and then who knows what?”

LIKE ANGELINA, AMBER STARTED modeling as a teenager. The two beauties are also daredevils, with Oscar winner Angie piloting her own small plane and muscle car fan Amber driving a souped-up 1968 Ford Mustang.

Each has also carried on lesbian affairs – Angelina with Asian model Jenny Shimizu, and Amber with Hawaiian artist/photographer

Tasya Van Ree and rumored girlfriend French singer/model Marie de Villepin. A smitten Amber recently gushed over mom-of-six Angelina, calling her “an incredible example in terms of challenging the status quo. I think she talked about being bisexual honestly, which I love her for.”

And the blonde bombshell is anxious to invite Angelina and fiancé Brad Pitt to Depp’s home in the south of France. “Brad and Angelina are Johnny’s neighbors, and Amber thinks it would be great fun to all get together,” said the source.

“While Amber hasn’t said that she’s interested in hooking up with Angie, the possibility has certainly crossed Johnny’s mind.”

New help for your hair

For a long time
Christie wanted to do something extra for her hair. After a few weeks with Hair Volume™ she experienced less hair loss and more shine.

HAIR VOLUME™ REALLY WORKS
FOR ME!

Christie encountered hair loss, which was very frustrating. “I have tried many things before, but without result. I believe that I have always used good hair products and washed my hair with care, but to no avail.”

Read about Hair Volume™

“I was skeptical, when I first read about Hair Volume. I am always studying the declarations very carefully and there was something about this product, which made me realize that it was special.”

Very positive experience

“Today I have taken the Hair Volume tablets for 38 days and I can truly say I sense a clear improvement in the quality of the hair and I have much less hair loss. My nails also seem stronger and less grooved. All in all a very positive experience. I will definitely continue taking Hair Volume.” relates a happy Christie.

Hair Volume is a Scandinavian formula. Unlike other tablets on the market it contains an apple extract rich in procyanidin-B2.

Now in the USA!

Hair Volume™ is a new product, which nourishes the hair roots with nutrients like biotin, zinc, b-vitamins and copper, all important for normal healthy hair growth. Copper further affects melanin production, to help combat grey hairs.

Available at participating retailers and online.

YOUR HEALTH by LISETTE HILTON & LAURIE MILLER

LONG-LIFE DIET

★ Women who follow the Mediterranean diet may live a longer, healthier life free of chronic disease, suggests a new study.

Researchers evaluated the dietary habits of more than 10,000 middle-age women over a 15-year period and found that those who followed the heart-healthy diet – which includes fruits, vegetables, legumes, whole grains and fish and less red meat – were 40 percent more likely to live to age 70 or older. What's more, they tended to enjoy healthier lives, free of diabetes and other major diseases, and could think and function better.

"It's reasonable to say that the benefits to men would be similar," notes former Harvard researcher Cecilia Samieri.

★ Bacteria in the gut might play a key role in the onset of rheumatoid arthritis. New York University researchers discovered that patients newly diagnosed with the autoimmune disease were much more likely to carry the intestinal bacteria Prevotella copri than those without rheumatoid arthritis.

Researchers plan to look more closely at whether having the bacteria actually causes rheumatoid arthritis. If so, it could open the door to new treatments.

Rheumatoid arthritis DISCOVERY

Testosterone THERAPY WARNING

★ Beware of the booming testosterone craze. A study of men in their early 60s taking the hormone showed a nearly 30 percent increased risk of heart attack, stroke and death.

Researchers in Colorado and Texas found that one in five men not taking the therapy suffered a heart attack or stroke or died in a three-year period versus more than one in four men taking testosterone.

"The men who were taking testosterone were slightly healthier to begin with but surprisingly had a higher risk of catastrophic events," says Dr. Anne Cappola, who was not involved in the study.

★ Seniors can rev up their energy levels and become more mobile with a simple exercise regimen.

Members of two New York City senior centers took part in six eight-week sessions of mostly chair-based exercises designed by the Arthritis Foundation as well as three, eight-week yoga exercise classes.

Experts from New York's Hospital for Special Surgery found that many of the participants experienced an improved ability to climb stairs, kneel, bend and stoop – and to lift and carry groceries. Many also reported feeling less stiff and less tired. "People believe that if you have arthritis you shouldn't exercise," says Dr. Linda Russell.

"But appropriate exercises actually help decrease pain."

ANN-MARGRET'S HEARTBREAKING BATTLE

Ann-Margret's husband Roger Smith has suffered from a degenerative disease for decades

Brave actress, 72, STRUGGLING TO COPE WITH AILING HUSBAND

AT 72, actress Ann-Margret is starring in the role of a lifetime – playing nursemaid to her husband of 46 years, actor Roger Smith.

A source says the former Hollywood sex kitten refuses to put 81-year-old Smith, who's battled the neuromuscular disease Myasthenia Gravis for decades, in a nursing home.

"Ann is totally devoted to Roger," said a longtime pal.

"While their Los Angeles mansion looks as if it's her personal palace with its frilly pink furnishings and her magazine covers on the walls, her daily life revolves around his needs."

BUT LAST MONTH, THE ACTRESS suffered a serious injury while caring for Smith, star of the popular '50s and '60s series "77 Sunset Strip."

"Roger needed to move from his bed to a chair," said the source. "He can't do that alone, so Ann told him to lean on her."

"They'd taken only a few steps when Roger went tumbling. To keep him from injuring himself, Ann went down and allowed him to fall on her. She ended up in the emergency room and got 60 stitches in her arm and a leg. But she never complained."

The still-sexy senior, who starred in such hit films as "Bye Bye Birdie," "Carnal Knowledge," and "Viva Las Vegas" – the latter with her then-lover Elvis Presley – has overcome adversity before. In 1972, she fell from an elevated platform in Lake Tahoe, breaking her arm and shattering nearly every bone in her face. In 2000, she was involved in a serious motorcycle accident while riding her Harley-Davidson, and suffered three broken ribs and a broken shoulder.

"The older Roger gets, the more help he needs," added the source.

"Friends and family worry about Ann's ability to cope, but she insists that if she survived the roller-coaster ride of the past 50 years, she can survive anything."

Chiropractor Develops Pain-Busting 'Miracle Socks' for Diabetics & Foot Pain!

Breakthrough circulation-boosting fibers improve blood flow, relieve swelling, boost oxygen flow, & eliminate foot fatigue in as little as 5 minutes!

If you suffer from poor circulation, injury, swelling or any condition that leaves your feet fatigued and sore, then read on to discover the breakthrough that can change your life. The new 'pain-busting microfiber' used to weave a circulation-boosting sock has been perfected, and it's called Bambusa™.

RESULTS IN MINUTES?

John G. of CA claims he felt immediate results with his tired, swollen feet. "Without exaggeration the relief was almost instantaneous. It is like a heating pad set to low and wrapped around my calf. I will be replacing my entire set of dress socks with these socks!"

RELIEF FOR TIRED, SWOLLEN FEET

Bambusa™ socks are not medical devices or compression socks because they don't restrict blood flow. Utilizing the special anion technology, they comfortably increase blood flow and oxygen to tissues. "My feet felt wonderful, cool, and I never get that pins and needles feeling anymore. I love my Bambusa™ socks," says Nancy, from NJ.

They are ideal for those who suffer from 'burning feet', poor circulation, or soreness from injury or repetitive use. Bambusa™ socks can also bring comfort to tired legs within minutes of wearing them, energizing anyone who spends long hours on their feet.

GOODBYE TO ACHES & NUMBNESS

Marilyn H. has suffered persistent foot problems for years and noticed fast results. "The issue for me was persistent numbness in my toes - it was gone completely after a few days of wearing these socks! Being diabetic, I never had pain-free feet - UNTIL NOW!"

"I went out on the golf course for 18 holes, and when I got home my feet weren't swollen, they weren't sweating and my feet didn't hurt." - Lou B., NY.

"Bambusa socks are absolutely the most comfortable socks I've ever worn! My feet are not fatigued!" ~ Anne M.

"Being Diabetic, I never had pain-free feet - UNTIL NOW!"

Say Goodbye to Burning Feet!

Thermographic Imaging Shows The Difference!

Put An End To Achy Feet!

Does it feel like your feet are on fire? It could be because your feet are tired, or you have nerve damage or injury. 'Burning feet' can mean severe aching, stinging or a pins and needles sensation. This may also be accompanied by sweating, swelling, and inflammation. Good news comes in the form of a non-medical solution that may be able to end your foot problems.

Doctor Developed

Dr. Jackson Corley, a 20-year Chiropractor, developed the patent pending 3D-weave technology for this circulation-boosting material, called Bambusa™.

"Infrared therapy has been used for years at medical clinics for various vascular and circulatory conditions. Physical therapists use infrared therapy to speed recovery. Better blood flow equals less pain. This 3D-weave technology works much the same way to provide relief."

Therapy Without A Prescription!

When the socks were tested using a thermographic imaging camera, there was a 17% to 22% increase in blood flow, helping to improve muscle oxygenation and decrease foot fatigue. The socks have been shown to provide extended relief for hot/cold, swollen, or fatigued feet for thousands of customers.

BENEFITS:

- Increased blood flow & oxygen
- Reduced swelling
- Helps with aches and stiffness
- Anti-microbial
- Wicks away moisture
- Increased range of motion

IDEAL FOR:

- Neuropathy
- Raynaud's Syndrome
- Cramping
- Cold Feet
- Athletes

LEN FELDMAN'S BEST BETS ON TV

What's hot
this week

Cameron
Mathison and Jennie Garth

Holidaze (Made-for-TV Movie Premiere)

Sunday, Dec. 8, 8 p.m. ET, ABC Family

Jennie Garth sparkles in this holiday head-spinner of a romantic comedy. Melody Gerard (Garth) is a high-powered, ambitious executive who needs to get her quiet hometown to allow her conglomerate to build a discount store there. But the simple townspeople, including her own mother, are a tough sell – and cold, corporate Melody can't understand why they don't want a big chain store in their quiet town. Her life-changing holiday moment comes when she wakes up in an alternate universe where she never left home and is married to her childhood sweetheart (Cameron Mathison)! Fun and fanciful, "Holidaze" is dazzling.

Bonnie & Clyde (2-Night Miniseries Event)

Sunday, Dec. 8 and Monday,
Dec. 9, 9 p.m. ET both nights,
Lifetime, A&E, History

Bang! Bang! Bang! Infamous criminal couple Bonnie & Clyde are on a robbing and killing spree across three networks tonight with this ambitious miniseries that chronicles their short-lived, bullet-ridden career. Emile Hirsch makes an excellent baby-faced yet brutal Clyde Barrow. Holliday Grainger is hell on wheels and heels as the explosive, publicity-seeking killer, Bonnie Parker. Holly Hunter is pure perfection as Bonnie's dotting mom. William Hurt brings some heavy western gravitas to the story as tough-as-nails Texas Ranger Frank Hamer. With a thoughtful script that explores the scarred psyches of the cutthroat couple and spot-on period production design, you not only see the legend of Bonnie & Clyde, you live it!

American Country Awards

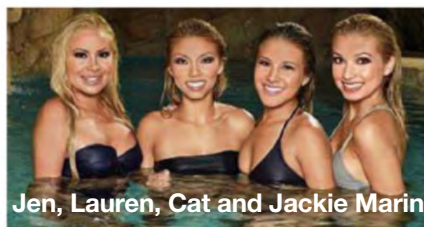

Tuesday, Dec. 10, 8 p.m. ET, FOX

Country superstar Brad Paisley has won ACA awards in 2010, 2011 and 2012. But tonight he's already won before the American Country Awards even begin as he is set to receive the Video Visionary Award for his amazingly cool music videos over the years. It's an honor given only once before, to Toby Keith in 2010. Paisley will also perform his new single "The Mona Lisa." Also appearing are Olivia Newton-John, Sheryl Crow, Darius Rucker, Florida Georgia Line and many more. Trace Adkins and Danica Patrick host this viewer-voted event (voting for Artist of the Year ends Saturday, Dec. 7 at www.theacas.com) from Mandalay Bay in Las Vegas.

Tequila Sisters (New Show!)

Tuesday, Dec. 10, 8 p.m. ET,
TVG (TV Guide Network)

Can a wealthy tequila entrepreneur living in Southern California keep his four blonde bombshell daughters out of trouble in Tinseltown without going crazy? Bill Marin, his wife Lori and their four wild and sexy 20-something daughters Jen, Lauren, Jackie and Cat, are a Mexican-American family living the American dream thanks to daddy's tequila business. While Bill and Lori struggle to keep old world Hispanic family traditions alive in their family, the girls are being drawn into the seductive Hollywood lifestyle. Aside from the glitz, glamour and drama, this fun and high-spirited docu-soap is really about a dad trying to keep his little girls from going astray in a town of temptation.

'Psycho' Spader's DRAG QUEEN SECRET

FROM babe to bad guy! Fans of "The Blacklist" know Raymond "Red" Reddington – James Spader's psycho alter-ego on the hit new NBC crime drama – as a hard-core criminal and one of the FBI's most wanted fugitives. He's the ultimate super-villain, the perfect combination of intelligence, cunning and killer instinct. But just a few years ago, James was sporting a much different look – as a woman! The actor slipped into a wig and a dress for an episode of "Boston Legal" in 2006.

Good riddance, Kimye

Regarding "Kim & Kanye Send Sarah Michelle Packing" (Nov. 4): Good for Sarah Michelle Gellar and Freddie Prinze Jr.! Anyone in their right mind wouldn't want to live near any of the Kardashians or Kanye West. They're such an annoying family – and crazy too.

– Melanie D., Susquehanna, Pa.

Fork it over, mama

Why does Candy Spelling sit back with her millions and watch Tori struggle to make ends meet (Tori & Candy Feud Turns Ugly, Nov. 4)? She should open her purse strings and give her daughter the inheritance she deserves. I don't have a dime, but still feel sorry for Tori.

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

STEVE HARVEY PLAYS MATCHMAKER

Talk-show host trying to fix up 'Housewife' Porsha ▶

“REAL HOUSEWIVES OF ATLANTA” star Porsha Stewart isn’t even divorced yet, but that’s not stopping her from enlisting good pal Steve Harvey to help her find a new, RICH man!

THE 33-YEAR-OLD SOCIALITE says she got blindsided by her hubby, former NFL quarterback Kordell Stewart, who announced via a Twitter post that he’d filed for divorce. Now, Porsha isn’t waiting for the formalities to get back in action — and she even played a mock version of “The Dating Game” on the “Steve Harvey” show.

But “the contestants were just regular guys,” said a source. “So after the show, Porsha pulled Steve aside and asked him if he could hook her up with one of his wealthy friends.”

Steve is worth $85 million and apparently has a lot of rich friends, including several pro ballplayers.

“Porsha may act like she’s naive on TV, but she knew exactly what she was doing when she went on Steve’s show,” the source revealed. “Steve doesn’t like getting in the middle of relationships, so he’s not sure if he wants to do this.”

“He didn’t commit, but he didn’t say no.” Porsha and former Pittsburgh Steelers star Kordell, whose net worth is estimated at $16 million, met at an Atlanta club in 2009. Their lavish 2011 nuptials were featured on WE tv’s “Platinum Weddings,” but Kordell filed for divorce less than two years later.

“Porsha had gotten used to living large and now she’s back in her mother’s house,” the source added. “She’s looking for a new ‘sponsor,’ and she’s hoping Steve will help her find the perfect man.”

PUPPY LOVE REUNITES VAMPIRES

Ian and Nina doggone missed each other

Nina is rethinking her anti-marriage stance

The couple is spending time together co-parenting their dogs

“VAMPIRE DIARIES” stars Ian Somerhalder and Nina Dobrev are taking another bite out of love — and the duo have their shared love of dogs to thank for the reconciliation.

Their romance fizzled in May after more than three years of dating, but they reunited off-screen in October when Nina helped Ian’s dog Nietzsche give birth to puppies.

“NINA FELL IN LOVE WITH

Nietzsche’s puppies,” disclosed a close source. “She kept coming around to check on the dogs, and that’s when she and Ian realized they still carried torches for each other.”

The Bulgaria-born beauty ended her six-week rebound romance with “Dancing with the Stars” pro

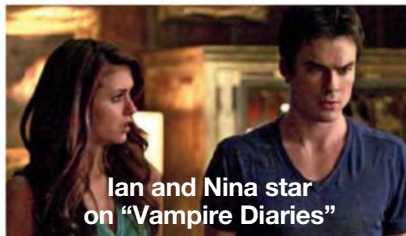

Derek Hough just days after Nietzsche gave birth to eight puppies on Oct. 8. Soon after, Nina posted a cute photo online with the caption: “Birthing little Nietzsches...Such a beautiful (and) equally terrifying thing to witness. The miracle of life...”

Ironically, Ian, 35, and Nina, 24, broke up because he wanted to get married, have kids and settle down, but she said she wasn’t ready for that type of commitment.

“After playing ‘mom’ to the little pups, Nina is rethinking her anti-marriage stance,” revealed the source.

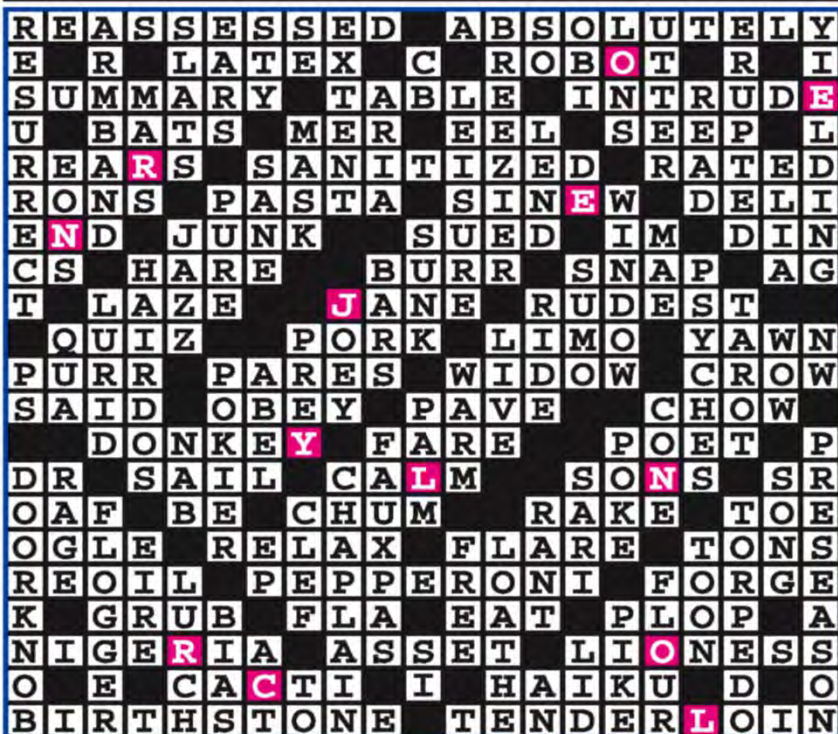

Observers say the two are now spending time together in Atlanta, where they’re shooting the fifth season of their hit CW show.

“Co-parenting the dogs with Ian helped Nina realize what a great dad he would be,” said the source. “She never really saw that nurturing side of him before.”

Acts of kindness

POLICE DOGS' BEST FRIEND!

All across the country, every day, good people perform acts of kindness for strangers. Only rarely do they receive recognition for their selfless work. In our ongoing series, The ENQUIRER will put the spotlight on those who care enough to make life better for those around them.

WHEN 10-year-old Allison Henry heard that the Holyoke, Mass., police department was restarting its K-9 unit – but didn't have enough funding to supply the dogs with bulletproof vests – she decided to do something about it.

The bighearted schoolgirl stepped up and single-handedly raised $950 to get the unit's first dog, Ryker, the proper armament.

"What a remarkable young lady," grateful Police Chief James Neiswanger told The ENQUIRER.

"Allison is just a kid, yet she's doing something for the benefit of the community."

Earlier this year, the Holyoke police department announced that it was bringing back its K-9 unit after a 10-year hiatus because of a growing drug problem in the city.

Allison, who lives in the neighboring town of Palmer, was brokenhearted when she learned that the department's first crime-fighting tail-wagger – an 18-month-old Belgian Malinois mix – would have to risk his life without body armor because of the city's limited budget.

"I just feel that a dog should be safe because I really like animals," explained Allison. "The least we can do is help protect them."

THE GENEROUS YOUNGSTER, ALONG WITH HER 12-year-old sister Kathryn, has been raising money for different charitable causes since she was 5.

"Each year for my birthday, I pick a charity to donate to and this year I chose Ryker," said Allison.

The youngster told family and friends to give her cash instead of presents for her 10th birthday on April 30 so she could use it to help fund a vest for Ryker.

That selfless sacrifice brought in $130. Next she began raising more loot through social networking sites – and by the end of May, she'd collected a total of $375...still far short of her goal.

So the plucky youngster contacted the Holyoke Rotary Club and arranged to tell members about what she was doing. Deeply touched, they chipped in $325, bringing her total to $700. The club then donated the remaining $250 needed for the vest.

"What she did was amazing!" marveled Chief Neiswanger. "First, she sacrificed her own birthday gifts. Then she spoke to the Rotary Club. I mean, this is a 10-year old girl. She's an exceptional young lady, who is making an impact on the world."

BE SAFE! LOVE, ALLISON HENRY

These words were inscribed in the body armor

Once she had enough money, Allison bought the lifesaving equipment from Vested Interest in K-9s, a nonprofit group that provides protective vests for law enforcement dogs. And on Sept. 26, Allison's dream came true.

She went to the Holyoke Police Department, and at a special ceremony presented the vest – inscribed with the words "Be Safe, Love, Allison Henry" – to Ryker and his handler Matthew Welch. Both the police chief and Mayor Alex B. Morse thanked her for her fantastic efforts.

Said modest Allison: "I'm just glad I was able to help."
